Subject Employers should contribute towards the Health Insurance

Urgent     Return receipt     Sign     Encrypt

I am a Canadian citizen. When I was living in Canada, all the employers contributed towards the health insurance.

Employees needed not pay any health insurance.

The companies in Hong Kong pay a very small amount of tax. When they contribute towards the health insurance, it represents a very small amount of their before tax profits.

I am now residing in Hong Kong permanently. I don't know the current situation in Canada. But I wonder if you could investigate and evaluate the practices in Canada and elsewhere in the rest of the overseas countries.

Thank you for your attention.
